"'The streets of our country are in turmoil. The universities are filling with students rebelling and rioting. Communists are seeking to destroy our country. Yes, the republic is in danger from within and without. We need law and order. Without it our nation cannot survive . . .' If you think that's a typical Spiro Agnew commentary on what's happening today, be prepared for a shock: it's an excerpt from a campaign speech made in 1932 by one A. Hitler, who went on to promise . . . 'elect us and we shall restore law and order. We shall by law and order be respected among the nations of the world.' . . . And if you think Germany started the war, wrong again. France, Britain, Russia and the United States could have stopped Germany before the shooting began. Why didn't they?"
